Britannica conducted a workshop on effective teaching in two sessions. The workshop was presented by Ms. Alka Jha who shared her experience and techniques of effective teaching.

First Session : Teaching Effectively

Session started with a prayer.

The representative from Britannica discussed the basic rules of classroom teaching which is gradually losing its essence because of the interventions of new methodology and technique. Careful blending of old and new is required to make teaching effective. This session revived the moral values and responsibility of a teacher. Every subject teacher is a moral science teacher too. This was quite informative and enlightening for all.

Second Session : ELT

This was a short but very informative session, where the English teachers were able to clarify their doubts. They were able to learn as how to make the subject interesting for the students by applying simple techniques.

Overall the session was quite interesting and encouraged teacher to think differently.
